

Merry Christmas!

With a little folding and some tape, this card will become one of the best gifts anyone can give—an empty paper box!

Just kidding. The empty box serves as a snug hiding place for your family's phones, allowing you all to be fully present, and to focus on each other.

Here's how we're trying to spend this Christmas, Present.

Murrays love Christmas. It's full of worship, celebration and food. And presents. And people we love. And Facebook. And texts. Instagram. Online garage sales. Quizzes about which reindeer we are most like. Random funny videos. Devices and screens.

This Christmas, we want to give those around us our presence, and not just our presents. Our family's gift to you is a Christmas card that turns into a box! (Some assembly required.) Hide your device in it when you want to remind yourself that part of your gift to the people around you is being fully present. Just don't be too preachy about it—people hate that kind of thing.

Merry Christmas! And enjoy this

Christmas, Present

As the old saying goes, "the family that sticks their phones in a paper box together, stays together."

Tim: Guys, what do you want to say to our family and friends?*

Sam: First, I love you. And then I'm going to say...I hope you enjoy your Merry Christmas.

Emmeline: Happy Christmas! I mean, "Merry." I hope you enjoy the day. On Christmas.

Mel: Um, hang on. I can't think about it right now—Sam just made a huge mess.

[Aimee could not be reached for comment.]

*An actual conversation

We'd love to see how you used the box to be present this Christmas—let us know how it went! (Just let us know after the party, not during.)

#bepresentforChristmas

You can download and print more copies of this page at paperbackdesign.com/christmas-present

Christmas, Present